Fantasy Variations on a Forgotten Myth

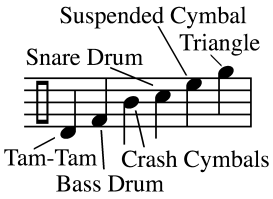
For Chamber Orchestra

Score is Transposed

Flute	Timpani
Oboe	Percussion (1 player)
Clarinet in B-flat	Piano
Bassoon	Violin I
Horn in F	Violin II
Trumpet in C	Viola
Trombone	Violoncello
	Contrabass

Note About the Percussion

The percussion part uses xylophone, glockenspiel, and the following instruments notated as shown below:



Mallet indications are given only when necessary for a particular effect, otherwise standard mallets or beaters should be used for each instrument.

Program Notes

The inspiration for this work came in the form of a myth from Ovid's Metamorphoses. A brief passage in the text recounts the story of Ocyrhoe, a half-divine woman who was able to tell the future with startling accuracy. While entertaining at first, the prophetess soon became a nuisance to some of the gods who did not appreciate her doomsday foretellings. In the end, she was silenced when a god transformed her into a horse. The work does not strictly follow the narrative of the myth, but contains impressions based on the imagery it contains.
