

For the 2012 Seasons Fall Festival
To Think on You

Walt Whitman

Jessica Rudman (b. 1982)

II. A Glimpse

Secretive ♩ = 116

p
A glimpse through an in-ter-stice caught, of a f pp

5 mp
crowd of work-men and dri-vers in a bar - room a - round the stove,

9 p mf
late of a win-ter night, And I un - re - mark'd

mf f mf mp Ped.

13

8

seat - ed in a cor - ner; A glimpse of a p

p f pp

17

8

youth who loves me, and whom I love, si-lent - ly ap-proach ing,

21

8

and seat-ing him-self near, that he may hold me by the

mf

3 3

23 f

hand; A long while, a - mid the

mf mp

25 mp

nois - es of com - ing and go - ing, of drink-ing and oath and smut-ty

f p

28 f ff

jest, There we two, con - tent,

f ff mf cresc. ff

Red.

Slightly broad ♩ = 104

33 f fondly rit. mp

hap - py in being to - ge - ther, _____ speak-ing

mf dolce

Ped.

38 whispered p pp

lit - tle, per - haps not a word.

p ppp 8va